

Vets Seek Lower V.L.A. Assessments

Several residents in the V.L.A. sub-division in the north-east part of Newmarket are expected to file appeals against their current assessments. They feel that as a result of a combination of municipal forgetfulness and V.L.A. regulations, they have been placed in an unfair position as far as assessments are concerned.

The background of the appeals dates to the time when the town was arranging for the opening of the V.L.A. subdivision some years ago. At that time, the municipality is reported to have assured V.L.A. officials that tax concessions would be granted. This assurance is reported to be included in a letter on file in the V.L.A. office.

This assurance becomes of foremost importance when placed against the V.L.A. regulation which prohibits veterans from selling any part of their V.L.A. holdings.

The provisions of the V.L.A., as applied in Newmarket, require each veteran to settle on a half acre lot and the veteran is assessed in full for that lot. Under normal circumstances, if extra land were an embarrassment to a home-owner, he could sell it. The veteran, however, is prevented from selling it by V.L.A. regulation.

He can, if he wishes, sell all his land and house, but he cannot sell parts. It is feared that veterans on the sub-division that unless there is some easing of taxes on this extra frontage, many will be obliged to sell out. If this happens, it is feared that the large lots will be subdivided and built up at a subsequent depreciation of property.

Veterans point out that if the town had adhered to its assurance of tax concessions, this situation would not have arisen.

At a meeting Tuesday night, it was decided that the individual veterans would appeal their assessments this year, and for next year, a tax concession, or some arrangement releasing the veterans of this extra cost, would be sought from council.

ORCHESTRAL SOCIETY

The headmaster of St. Andrew's College, Kenneth Ketchum, announces that, under the leadership of John Bradley, music master of St. Andrew's, an orchestral society is to be formed with membership open to all those in this district who can come to St. Andrew's for rehearsals and concerts. The only condition of membership is at least a fair ability to play an instrument.

As it will be impossible for Mr. Bradley to give private instruction to individual players, it will be assumed that each member will strive to advance his own playing.

It is hoped that ultimately an orchestra of some size and quality may be produced and that it will give public performances, but the immediate aim is to provide enjoyment for the members through playing and practicing together as a community recreation.

It is intended that the orchestral society will meet in the assembly hall of St. Andrew's once a fortnight. All those who are interested in joining the society are asked to bring their instruments to one of the rehearsals.

Milk Producers To Vote On Marketing Agency Within Two Months

Milk producers in this area will vote sometime in the next two months on whether they wish the establishment of a milk marketing agency as the alternative to the present system of milk marketing.

This decision was confirmed at a meeting of the advisory board of the Toronto Milk Producers in Toronto last week. The meeting passed a resolution calling for such a vote before the annual meeting of the Producers in December.

Under such an agency, the producers' milk would be handled through a producers' agency which in turn would sell the milk to the dairies as required, and market the surplus themselves.

In time, it is expected that the producers would build their own milk processing plant. The advantages, it is claimed, are that the producers would have greater control over their product. They would take their own butter-fat tests for example, establish their own quotas—both sore points under the present marketing set-up in which the producers deal directly with the dairies.

Another sore point is the manner in which surplus milk is marketed. It is claimed that the dairies make substantial profits by these sales. Under the proposed milk marketing agency, those profits would be passed on to the producers.

The milk marketing agency would be established under present provincial enabling legislation. It would require a two-thirds vote in its favor by producers.

Opponents of the agency say that the scheme requires all producers to market their milk through the agency, thus limiting the producers' choice of markets. It was generally felt, however, that under the present

TOW BURNING STACK WITH TRACTORS. FIREMEN SAVE BARN

The Newmarket fire brigade helped to save a barn near Mount Albert on Tuesday by towing a burning straw stack away with two tractors.

Three fire departments, Mount Albert, Uxbridge and Newmarket were called to the McGillivray farm a mile and a quarter east of Mount Albert shortly after 3 p.m. on Tuesday. The centre of a straw stack which was leaning against the barn was on fire. Including fire departments and neighbors, there were over 200 men digging away at the burning stack. The fire was believed to have been caused by combustion in the centre of the stack.

The barn caught fire two or three times according to Fire Chief James Coltham. It was Fire Chief Coltham who got the idea to wrap a cable around the stack and tow it away. Two farm tractors moved the stack successfully and the barn was saved.

'HARVEY' DEFINED AS FAIRY SPIRIT IN RABBIT FORM

The Pulitzer Prize play "Harvey", to be presented by the Newmarket Dramatic Club November 1, 2 and 3 was written several years ago by Mary Chase and won success on the stage and screen.

Its central figure is a large white rabbit whose name is Harvey and it is said that he actually can be seen by anyone who will take the trouble to look for him.

Harvey is also a Pooka which is defined in the encyclopaedia as a "wise but mischievous fairy spirit in animal form, appearing here and there, to this one and that one, at his own caprice".

Harvey adopts people he likes. That is when he finds a likeable run pot or crack pot. He cannot resist revealing himself to such a person. He can take a person to wherever he wishes to go, stay as long as he wishes to stay and when he returns not one minute of the clock will have ticked by.

Tickets for "Harvey" are on sale at Atkinson's drug store. A limited number of reserve seats is available.

George Armstrong received a letter from an American soldier this week who wrote for his brother, John Armstrong, who is lying, paralyzed, in an American evacuation hospital at Yungdungpo, Korea.

Pfc. Norman W. Osvoild, an American at the 121st Evacuation Hospital wrote to George Armstrong, 1 Denne Blvd., North Newmarket, the night after Armstrong was wounded and said that he would probably be moved to the Tokyo Army Hospital.

"I am just one of the fellows working in the dental laboratory at this hospital," Osvoild says. "I write letters for patients in my free time. I met your brother, Johnnie, last night and promised to write for him."

"Johnnie was wounded on patrol the night of the 24th (September) and came here for treatment the next day. He is in good care and is waiting for his operation."

"He has a bullet in his back which has him paralyzed from the neck down. After the operation there is good hope for him to regain use of his body. Of course, it will take a long time, with good care, to recover from such an injury."

AT PICKERING COLLEGE

Group Of Seven Art Show Opens Saturday

An exhibition of Canadian paintings by the Group of Seven which developed the first Canadian art movement, opens at Pickering College at 8 p.m. Saturday. The exhibition will be opened for the public.

The pictures have been borrowed from the National Gallery of Canada, the permanent collection of Pickering College and the private collection belonging to the headmaster, Robert E. K. Houtke. Forty canvases and sketches will be displayed in the assembly hall of the college.

The public may view the paintings until Sunday, October 28, at any of the following times: Saturdays from 3 p.m. until 10 p.m., Sundays and Wednesdays from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m., other days from 4 p.m. until 8 p.m. and from 8 p.m. until 10 p.m.

If the Newmarket Optimists' Pee-Wee baseball team wins out in the O.B.A. All-Ontario finals which start Saturday, it will be the first Newmarket team in history to win an Ontario baseball championship. The first game of the finals against Petrolia will be played at the Fair Grounds diamond on Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. The second game, next week, will be arranged for on Saturday.

The Ontario finals will be on a best two out of three basis. The Pee-Wees won out in the semi-finals against Merriton on Monday 5 to 2. They would have been in another semi-final trial against Petrolia but an Ottawa team dropped out of the All-Ontario contest. Now its Newmarket and Petrolia for the finals.

Don Warner, Boys' Work chairman in the Optimist Club received word on Wednesday that the Ottawa club dropped out sending the Pee-Wees directly into the finals. He said last night, "I think we have a good chance of winning it."

The Optimist sponsors are anxious to bring out every Newmarket fan to support the Pee-Wees on Saturday. A bus will be taking home fans to Petrolia for the second game next week. Persons interested in following the team by bus are asked to phone Don Warner at 825.

Last Monday's sudden-death game against Merriton followed a 3-2 win for the Optimists Wednesday of last week. They had lost the first game in Merriton 12-6. The Optimists won the toss for the Monday game to be in Newmarket.

The teams bartered runs in the second during the Monday game. Merriton got the jump with an unearned run on a pair of wild chucks by Jackie Cain and third baser John McGuire. Then the Optimists counted a tying run in their second.

Jackie Cain was hit by a pitched ball, stole second and was routed home by coach Frank Hollingsworth on a Merriton infield miscue. The Optimists took the lead in the third as Wayne Crouche, shorter than a blade of grass, stroled and Don Zogalo hit a bunt and before the invaders awoke to the fact, both runners were home free.

Newmarket added single tallies in the fifth on a pair of errors and a pair of Merriton fumbles plus John McGuire's single, neatly packed the win in the sixth. Merriton kept their final date with the score-keeper in the seventh, counting one run in a last ditch attempt to keep the series alive.

Jackie Cain on Optimist hill dominated the show. Jackie set the invaders down on two hits and claimed 10 strike outs. Optimists drove out five hits, Don Zogalo spilled two fifty bunts in front of the platter; another was Wayne Crouche's major league bunt and honest to goodness singles by Brian Million and John McGuire.

Political Pot On Fire As Three Parties Prepare For Election

The political pot in North York is slowly coming to a boil with all three major parties announcing plans for early nominations. The Conservatives will hold their nominations at Armour Heights public school on October 22; the Liberals will hold their convention at the same place on Saturday, Oct. 20; the C.C.F. expect to announce the place and date next week.

The riding of North York has been represented by Major Lex Mackenzie of Woodbridge, a Conservative. It is expected that he will again seek the nomination. Premier Leslie Frost will be guest speaker at the meeting and Earl Tuole will be chairman.

Candidates for the Liberal nomination are not yet known although there is reason to believe that someone from the south end of the riding will be the delegates' choice. Walter Thomson, Liberal leader, will be guest speaker at the nomination meeting. The C.C.F. has not yet set the date for their nominations although it will be before the end of the month. The exact date will be announced next week.

At a meeting of the constituency association last weekend, North York representatives heard optimistic forecasts of the party's chances in the election by William Newcombe, C.C.F. candidate in St. Patrick's.

The six paintings from the National Gallery are The Milltop by Franklin Carmichael, Bylot Island by Lawren Harris, No. 10 by A. Y. Jackson, The Guide's Home by J. E. H. MacDonald and Vera by Frederick H. Varley.

The Group of Seven, inspired by Tom Thompson, the almost legendary Canadian artist-woodman, was formed after the first world war. Thompson, a native of Owen Sound, had painted in the north country had led his companions there. His early death, by a drowning accident in Canoe Lake, Algonquin Park, is said to have spurred their efforts.

In their first excursions into the north to paint, they felt that the vast field of new subject matter lent itself to "original treatment". They treated their

Stouffville Sales Arena Ends First Year Of Auction Selling

Next Saturday, Oct. 13, the Stouffville Livestock Sales Arena will celebrate its first anniversary in this new line of business in this part of the country.

Selling livestock through a sales barn is an old idea in England and the United States and is fast becoming a modern way in this country to dispose of produce that is for sale. A sales barn provides a convenient place where buyers and sellers can meet and exchange articles that are for sale.

The present sales barn is too small for the large amount of livestock that comes to be sold every week.

W. D. Atkinson, who operates the present barn, spent seven weeks this summer in Western Canada and the States studying the building and operation of sales barns.

Material and equipment are now being gathered together to put up a new Livestock Sales Arena which it is expected will be one of the best and most up-to-date sales barns to be found. This barn serves a large district; buyers were present last week from as far west as Napanee, west to Kitchener, and north to Burk's Falls.

As it is the first anniversary of the sale next Saturday, there will be prizes for the person buying the most at the sale, also for the one selling the most at the sale.

There will also be free afternoon tea for the ladies from 3 to 4 p.m. All are welcome.

BOY SCOUT APPLE DAY

Boy Scout Apple Day will be held on Saturday, Oct. 20. A house-to-house canvass will be made of the town during the morning. Toboggan slides for pigeons
When we put an aluminum roof on our Kingston, Ont. plant, we knew it would have many advantages for the people inside; but, frankly, we did not consider the pigeon population outside. They landed on the shining surface... slid... liked the sensation... made it a pastime.
Providing toboggan slides for pigeons is no part of our programme. However, the aluminum roofs which now dot the countryside do illustrate the rapidly growing demand for aluminum. To match growing markets like this, we are building new plants and powerhouses in Quebec and British Columbia. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

The monthly meeting of the Lakeshore branch of the Women's Institute was held Tuesday, Sept. 25. The president, Mrs. P. Mahoney, conducted a rather heavy business session, which had accumulated over the summer months.
An invitation to visit Roche's Point W.I. on Nov. 1 was read and accepted. A very interesting letter was read from the Margaretting Women's Institute, Chelmsford, England, telling us of their activities.
Mrs. G. Campbell then took over the meeting, speaking on education and citizenship. Mrs. Campbell spoke of the facilities our young people have these days to enable them to take advantage of a good education.
The danger of obtaining everything too easily is that one is apt to lose value and appreciation, she said. A great ideal to aim for is a life work done more for love and interest in the work than just financial results. In this way the worker will be happy and make others happy too, and so develop a good character, and with this character he cannot help but be a good citizen, taking an interest in the welfare of the community.

Help me get them out!

Each chick when it is hatched has in its tiny body potentially all the eggs it will ever lay, regardless of how long it lives.
So you, the farmer, to make this bird produce profitably, must get these eggs out over as short a period as possible.
This can be done by proper feeding and management practices. The feeding of a nutritionally balanced feed that contains all of the essential elements required for high egg production is what the bird needs. Grain alone is not enough to do this. The grain must be supplemented with a concentrate, and SHUR-GAIN Eggmaker Concentrate is designed for this very purpose - supplying everything that straight grain lacks.

Whether you buy your grain or grow it yourself, it costs money. Save grain and you save money. Grain plus SHUR-GAIN Eggmaker Concentrate in the correct proportions will give a balanced feed that will step up production in your flock no matter how big or small.

The Story of SHARON

ETHEL WILSON TREWELLA

This is the eighteenth instalment of a continuing "Story of Sharon" from its founding to the present. The story was written after almost two years of research and will, we believe, be a major contribution to knowledge of the past. The remaining instalments will follow weekly.

Methodism in Sharon (cont'd)
The following extracts from the minutes of the Bradford District Meetings throw some light on the change to the Newmarket and carried, that the District Meeting be requested to reconsider the appointment of the Rev. J. Elliott to the Sharon Circuit to Newmarket for the ensuing year. On motion the District Meeting vetoed the request.

"Whereupon it was moved by Bro. Marritt and seconded by Bro. Thornley, that the Queensville circuit be allowed to remain as to appointments as it is, but that it be reduced from a two-man to a one-man circuit. Carried."

1891—"Moved by Peter Addison, seconded by T. Dunlop, and carried—That we recommend that Sharon appointment be con-

the Newmarket circuit be continued for another year."
Methodist Meeting House
On May 23, 1868, a deed of trust was conveyed by Judah Lundy to Benjamin Leppard in which it was stated that the Religious Society of Methodists have taken a parcel of land in the township of East Gwillimbury for the site of a meeting house; and to the trustees, Judah Lundy, farmer, and wife, Elizabeth; Benjamin Leppard, farmer; John Willson Edmand, merchant; George Lambert, farmer; Ezra Doan, farmer, and Amos Lundy, farmer, of the Chapel of the Canadian Wesleyan Methodist New Connexion in the village of Sharon, for a consideraed by Benjamin Mills and Martha Stokes.

This deed is historic. An Act of Parliament of that part of this province known as Upper Canada passed in the ninth year of the reign of King George IV, "an act for the religious societies therein named, it is enacted that whenever any religious congregation or society of Presbyterians, Lutherans, Calvinists, Methodists, Congregationalists, Independents, Anabaptists, Quakers, Menonists, Tunkers and Moravians, shall have occasion to take a conveyance of land for the site of a church, meeting house or chapel, or burying ground, it shall be lawful for them to appoint trustees, to requireable for all such purposes, not exceeding five acres, may be conveyed."

An account has come down that in February, 1872, "the annual tea party, under the auspices of the New Connexion Church, took place at Sharon on the 30th. At the hour appointed the house was comfortably filled. Tea and edibles, all that could be desired, were served and the waiters were very attentive. After the supper was finished, Mr. William Rowen was called to the chair. He made a few practical remarks, then called upon the choir which responded by singing the anthem, "He Shall Feed His Flock." Addresses were given by Rev. R.

J. Elliott on "Prejudice," by Rev. S. B. Gundy on "Temperance," and by Rev. J. Deacon on "True Happiness." The music was first class and the choir was heartily thanked. Mrs. Dr. Pearson presided at the organ and the usual vote of thanks was tendered the chairman."
Active Workers
Two local ministers who had assisted at various occasions at Sharon were John Gibson and Emmanuel Brown. Names of organists which have been obtained are Amos J. Hughes, Emma Doan and Rebecca Doan who officiated for many years. She was followed by Almida Barker, Mercy Barker and Maud

Lundy. The melodious tones of the little organ swelled in the richness of "Old Hundred" and blended with the voices in the glorious harmonies of Lyngham, and they sang as with "a thousand tongues to praise their great Redeemer's Name."
Judah Lundy and his wife, Elizabeth, donated the land and John T. Stokes was the architect of the little church. It is regretted that records are not available to tell the present generation of that brave band of Methodists who faithfully worked to establish the New Connexion Methodist Meeting in Sharon. Sharon Methodism has had a checkered career and has been banded about from one circuit to another, but through the years it has been an inspiration to the religious and social life of the village. Episcopal Methodists were in Sharon, also, but no records have been located.
The Anglican Church
Some rods to the south of the York Pioneers' museum on Queen St. in Sharon, stands the little Anglican church. Recently it has been painted white and its wooden structure, surmounted by steeple and bell-cote, is in simple classic detail and is consistently appropriate to the peaceful beauty of the village, and where, enhanced by its history and charm it is an aesthetic contribution to the whole community.

Of the beginnings of the Anglican church in East Gwillimbury, Rev. Canon R. W. Allen of Oakville, and diocesan historiographer, has contributed the following interesting material. In 1833 and 1835 the township was visited several times by the Rev. Adam Elliot, the first travelling missionary of the home district.
January 1, following 1833—"Having reached the township of North Gwillimbury, I read prayers and preached the Sunday of January 8 to about 40 very attentive people. The congregation, I am informed, would have been much larger if the weather had not been so unfavorable. Mr. Smalley, at whose house I resided while in the township, treated me with great hospitality and kindness.
"There appears to be much diversity of opinion in this township, also in East Gwillimbury, the neighboring township, on the subject of religion. It appears that comparatively few of the inhabitants of North Gwillimbury are Episcopalians. There is a sect in the neighborhood called the Children of Peace. I had some conversation with Mr. David Wilson, their leader, who behaved to me with great civility, and showed me his places of worship.
"One of them is a commodious building in which people assemble for the purpose of preaching and singing hymns. In this place is an organ, and other musical instruments are used. Common prayer forms no part of their public worship.
"Besides this meeting house there has been erected another of considerable magnitude, which is built of wood, is white and ornamented with turrets and spires. Mr. Willson informs me that this edifice was seven years in building, but that the expenses of erecting it are unknown. He said he could neither tell the number of the Children of Peace, nor state their particular tenets. He never preached in the large building, but the people meet in it once a month to join in a sort of concert of music and present their offerings."

Travelling Missionary
In 1836 Rev. H. H. O'Neil succeeded Rev. Adam Elliot as travelling missionary, and he also visited Sharon. Canon Allen continues with further contemporary account:
"Mr. O'Neil says—'But the most interesting circumstance in connection with this visit was the permission to preach to the followers of a person well known in this part. He lived four miles from Newmarket in the village of Hope, now called Sharon, in the township of East Gwillimbury.
"This singular character who is reported as having formerly been a sailor, in coming to this country, joined the Society of Friends, from whom he was soon separated. Being a good mechanic, he constructed, with the help of his followers, who style themselves Children of Peace, a beautiful frame building which has received the imposing name of Temple of Peace.
"In addition to this he has two meeting houses, an old one where the services of the Sabbath are conducted, and a new one of a larger and greater scale, not yet finished, all three on his own land.
"His religious opinions are a most a mixture of Judaism, Quaker and Unitarianism. His public services consist of political harangues against the church, Tories, clergy reserves, etc.
"Prayer forms no part of his Sabbath ordinance; the pauses are filled with pieces of music, played by a band. He is an illiterate man but numbers among his adherents several wealthy farmers."

The appointment of Mr. Jos. McCulley, former headmaster of Pickering College, as deputy commissioner of penal institutions a few years ago gives Newmarket more than passing reason for interest in penal reform. That interest is further strengthened by the career that J. R. Eakins, former Pickering student and resident of Newmarket, is carving out for himself in the same field in Alberta.

Jimmy Eakins married Norcen Penrose of Newmarket and they have three children. When he came back from a stint with the R.C.A.F., he lived in Newmarket while completing his studies at the University of Toronto. At one time, he was a candidate for the public school board and also ran for council although he may be mistaken on this last point.

Jimmy did some work with penal organizations in Ontario before accepting his present job, that of superintendent of the Alberta government's Bowden Institution for delinquent juvenile boys. This new institution is being built on a former airport at a cost of close to a million dollars.

But more than the buildings will be new. The policy of the institution marks a new departure in the reform of juvenile delinquents. Sent to the institution will be offenders in the age bracket of 14 to 25 years who have committed crimes and must be punished, but who have not yet become hardened criminals. The theory is that such offenders have committed crimes because of some lack in their environment or character. It will be the aim of the institution to provide what is missing by a program of rehabilitation.

The purpose of the Bowden Institution is to keep these boys from contact with hardened criminals, a contact they would inevitably make in reform school or similar institutions. Every effort is being made to avoid the environment of a jail or prison. The rules are relaxed on such matters as sending mail or receiving visitors. The boys will be on their honor; there will be no bars at the windows.

There is a precedent for this kind of institution in the United States but as far as is known, it is the first of its kind in Canada. On its success will depend many a case for penal reforms across Canada. And its success depends upon Jimmy Eakins.

If there is a concern over the visit of the Royal Couple to Canada it is that their time is so closely budgeted, their activity so severely limited, that they will have little opportunity to savor the true taste of Canada.

With all due respect to top brass, middle and low brass, their official welcomes and their civic courtesies are not truly indicative of Canada. It is true that in their trips through the city streets and their visits to public institutions, the visitors will have the opportunity to chat with Canadians and by these contacts, glimpse some of the true Canadian character.

But their visit is so rushed; the ground they must cover is so great, that we fear they can only carry away with them a shifting kaleidoscope of a thousand impressions. Perhaps those impressions will make a more rounded whole than most Canadians themselves experience. We hope so. Because the sense of Canada is difficult to grasp, indeed all but impossible. For all, it is a highly precious thing. It would be a pity if the visitors missed a moment when they might say in unison, "This is truly Canada."

OCTOBER 6, 1926

Quebec: Canada today received a new Governor-General and his consort. Lord and Lady Willingdon landed at Quebec. The weather was unkind. The city was shrouded in heavy mist. But through it loomed the befitting display of ceremony, the scarlet of military uniform, plumed and polished helmets, as the vice-regal party were escorted through the historic streets of Quebec, to the Provincial Parliament Buildings.

The Fiddler's Contest at the Palace Theatre last Monday night brought out a full house and caused a lot of amusement. There were only two contestants, the wet weather probably keeping a couple of men in the country from being present. Mr. Snider of Newmarket won first prize and Mr. Miner of Queensville the second. Next Monday night there will be a Charleston dance contest in addition to a splendid feature picture, as well as a comic.

Kettleby: Mrs. M. Stephens has a dahlia on which there have been three decidedly different colored flowers on the same stalk—one white, one yellow and one pale mauve. Who can beat that?

Aurora High School held its annual field day last Friday, when a large crowd gathered in the town park and cheered the winners in the various events.

Bethaven: Still much rain! Farmers are fearing the potato rot, but the yield in most places is good. The crop of buckwheat will be a problem to get dry. Many are complaining of the harm done to vegetables this fall by snails, supposed to be on account of the wet weather.

AN UNFORTUNATE ANSWER

At a meeting of the Newmarket council last week, Mayor Vale was asked when work would start on the proposed sewage disposal plant. He replied that it was "unlikely" that the plant would be built by next summer but it was "likely" that it would be started by then.

It is most unfortunate that the mayor could not, or would not, give a definite answer. The "likely" and the "unlikely" do nothing but reflect a discredit upon the town. Is it any wonder Newmarket's stock is so low in the neighboring municipalities?

Newmarket has needed a sewage disposal plant for years, and with the passage of each year, the need has grown. Mr. Garry Thompson, who owns considerable holdings down-stream, says he has been urging council to take action since 1921. At that time, Newmarket had a population of 3,000 or so and the Holland River was much more a river than it is now. At the moment, with an increase in population to more than 5,000, and the river shrunk to a mere stream, Newmarket's indifference has turned a once pleasant waterway into an open sewer.

Possibly it was felt that a definite commitment could be postponed still again because the construction of a sewage disposal plant is anything but a live issue in Newmarket. It would not be the first time that the town has been put in a selfish light by the actions of some of its administrators whose attitude has suggested that Newmarket existed in a vacuum. The fact is, however, that Newmarket has very definite obligations towards the surrounding countryside and the immediate construction of a sewage disposal plant is one of them.

Newmarket's sewage is emptied into the stream below the town and possibly that is the reason why so few Newmarket residents feel themselves immediately concerned with the need for a sewage disposal plant. If the sewers emptied into the stream above town, there would be action soon enough. When it was discovered that one sewer did open onto the stream at Queen St., it was rerouted at once. The people downstream from Newmarket have the abomination of all the sewers of Newmarket. It is only right that it should be corrected.

Admittedly, the spending of $300,000 is not to be entered upon lightly; every consideration should be thoroughly explored. The committee under Reeve Arthur D. Evans has been doing this for the last two years. But after 20 years of a growing need for a sewage plant, isn't it time that a start was made?

NEWMARKET HAS OBLIGATIONS

We question whether council is aware that Newmarket has certain obligations to its neighbors; in fact, there are times when we question council even recognizes that Newmarket has neighbors. There is a frequently demonstrated tendency of council to act as if Newmarket existed in a vacuum, completely independent of the surrounding countryside.

It has been an attitude which has earned Newmarket an unpleasant reputation. When the sewage disposal plant was discussed in council, one of the delegation from down-stream accused the council of bluffing. The mayor's indefinite reply was scarcely of the sort to encourage confidence, not after these long years of indifference and delay.

And then there is this matter of speed traps. No one defends the speeder. But it is just plain foolishness to set up traps on roads entering town when the approaches to town are so poorly defined. Huge warning signs should have been erected before any trap was set up. The object of the traps is to discourage speeding within town. Signs would have far better accomplished this purpose and with far better will. As it is, Newmarket is the most unpopular town on the highway and drivers speed just the same.

And this proposal to meter the parking lot in the market square. That really took the cake. People coming into Newmarket have been hitching their rigs there since the town had its beginnings. Instead of making it harder for visitors, and customers, it would be more to the point to pave the other two parking lots.

The fact is that some 60 percent, even higher in some cases, of the business done on Main St. comes out of town. It's only common sense to encourage good relations, and not discourage them with evasiveness on sewage disposal, speed traps and metering the traditional parking place.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

DEBENTURE DEBT PEAK

Newmarket's present debenture debt is in the neighborhood of $650,000. If plans for current projects go through, Reeve Arthur D. Evans forecasts a debenture debt in 1952 of $1,070,000. Those projects include the sewage disposal plant, $300,000; Main St. improvements, $50,000; new fire hall, $30,000; new fire alarm system, $20,000; new well, $20,000.

It wasn't so many years ago that a total debenture debt of half that amount excited considerable adverse comment. The new total, in one sense, represents the growth of Newmarket. The projects listed above are all necessary to the efficiency and safety of the town. The debentures which contributed towards the existing debt were for the most part required by the growth of the town. They include such costs as Newmarket's share in the new high school wing, the new public school, the paving of streets and similar costs.

A debenture debt of such proportions has, however, the major disadvantage of retiring a fixed amount each year from the municipality's revenues in interest and annual payments. This means that there are less funds for pay-as-you-go undertakings. In Newmarket's case, there is not much choice. The projects planned are necessary; Newmarket must accept the cost.

This debenture debt does have another meaning, however. It represents, in part, a bill which might have been discharged years before when the town's facilities were permitted to deteriorate because the councils of those times refused to budget for their upkeep. Some $60,000 has been spent on roads and sidewalks in Newmarket in the last two years. Much of that sum could have been saved had the roads been properly kept up in the past.

CHARGED WITH 'CLASS WAR'

Editors and publishers were given quite a lacing by Mr. Pat Conroy at a recent meeting at which he declared that it was the press of Canada which makes "class war". He said that the press is "just another money-making" business and that it reflected the ideals of the "five or ten percent" monied minority "who makes the class war".

Mr. Conroy added this description of editors: "These men who supposedly rise in the middle of the night to write editorials that right and freedom shall reign are nothing but men working for an incentive bonus . . . prisoners of the profit-making motive and can't write editorials in any other way than to condemn labor and everything it stands for."

The Midland Free Press Herald editor answers Mr. Conroy thusly: "We have just one reply . . . Why not test out just how much real backing you (Conroy) have among those people on whose behalf you profess to speak?"

"Why not do as the newspapers do? Instead of having compulsory check-offs made by the employers on your behalf under a year-long contract, why not sell your union activities and your union leadership voluntarily with no strings attached, like the editors and publishers sell their newspapers?"

"Anybody at any time can cancel a mail subscription to this newspaper and get his money back if he wishes. There is no compulsory subscription."

"Most of our papers are sold issue by issue through carriers and newsstands. Nobody has to buy them if they don't want to. There is no compulsory check-off, a year at a time, with everybody having to pay so much a month whether they like it or not."

"When the union leaders run their unions as democratically as the newspapers serve their readers, come back and say your piece all over again Mr. Conroy. Then, and only then, will we listen with respect."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Whitechurch township has taken a step which we wish other municipalities would follow. Instead of drawing from council for the personnel of a court of revision, the council appointed three former Reeves, now retired from council, to act. To have council members serve on the court of revision has always seemed to us like asking the arresting policeman to judge the prisoner.

The World Series is going along nicely and we can all put away our cares until the series is over. Why a baseball final should excite those who never hear or see a game from one series to another is more than we can explain, but the series has universal appeal so why spoil it by trying to understand it?

I would like to report a ghost — no, three ghosts — at present unemployed. This is not just a little seasonal piece of Halloween either. It's a real legitimate ghost story which should be of serious municipal concern.

As you may have heard, they have decided to tear down the old fire hall soon and down with it, of course, will come the old upstairs Council chambers. A lot of people around town said those council chambers were a death trap, that the building would fall down some night when there was a meeting in it. I have always maintained and still do, that it's this portent of doom which has given us good government all these years. There is nothing like a good old on-the-verge-of-collapsing, thought-provoking council chambers. That's what has kept our men on their toes all these years.

I am a mere voice in the wilderness, your faithful correspondent.

But to get down to it, they are talking of tearing the building down and as a result, there are three ghosts, presently unemployed, who are to be bereft of a haunting place. They are the three Shades of Newmarket Past.

"Wee, we are to lose our happy haunting grounds and we will likely have to go to the reserve if something isn't done about it," they say.

These three respectable and upright ghosts, I say, deserve more than that. After all, they are the ghosts of all that has gone before in Newmarket, all before "cost plus".

"We have no place to go where we can be shades of anything," said A. MacAulter O'Fair, senior of the three.

Reiterating the same complaint as their superior, both Assistant Ghost Ben Hawntin and Assistant Ghost Iziah Oleboy said the future looked grim, in an interview last night. With emphasis, Ben Hawntin

"No, I don't mean that," said Slim. "You see, these old servants have to ghostify every body as to leaders and shells and I've feared they just wouldn't take a sound set of attitude toward some body as a matter of fact, it would probably smart things up close back to Ottawa."

"Well, it's a fine tribute to the past when there is no recognition given to it. And great things have happened in these hallowed chambers," said A. MacAulter O'Fair. "Well just have to be ghost hums with an fixed nature."

"But well not let them forget the assessment battle we the Fairies Lake and incident, cost plus" smoke the Second Main Street and many other questions which were asked and answered over at these really trembled and heaved to the vibrant voices of many town fathers of the past," he said.

"No, we will not," said the other ghosts.

And said the three ghosts in unison, "Lo, we hereby dedicate ourselves to haunting up just such very things."

by "Dairy Farmer" The Top Six Inches

Lately we have been astonished at some of the prices that farmers have been asking for their land. We are safe in saying that after a number of years when land was just about the cheapest buy and the best value for the money, suddenly it has started falling in line with other real estate values.

There are many reasons for this. First of all, the townships intersected by the main traffic roads and highways are becoming more accessible to city people. When a man has the choice of buying a house for $15,000, or $20,000 or a farm with a house, etc., for the same money, you cannot blame him for getting ideas. It would make an interesting study for the new economics department of the department of agriculture to find out, for example, what influence the new Barrie highway had on land prices in the communities bordering this great road.

But roads are not the only reason for increase in land values. The price set by a farmer on his land is a highly individual thing. It will be influenced by many causes: the price he paid for it, the improvements he put on it and last, but not least, when he retires, the amount he thinks he will need to buy or build a home. This of course has increased immensely. You cannot blame him for not selling his farm for less than it would cost him to buy a house, say, in Newmarket.

The total result is discouraging to two groups of people: young farmers who want to get started and new Canadians who are looking for land and haven't got too much money to buy with.

This brings up the old question. Is there room and justification for some agency to help settle those who are qualified and want to be farmers? Is there any reason why something like a civilian V.I.A.

We are wondering why such a step hasn't been taken before. We feel that our Federation of Agriculture and, indeed, all farmer organizations, should press for this. In the meantime, we shall continue to be shocked by the asking price of some of the farms for sale. We clearly remember the good buys of 10-12 years ago. The farm in Halton that had a solid sheet of rock under it for $1,500 and the other one down east which had no buildings.

But we also remember farms in Western Ontario which were reasonably within the last few years, farms that had large buildings and good land and where the thorns were creeping in and where the houses had been used for range shelters or chicken brooders.

The government with its experience in V.I.A. and having a trained staff for the purpose should see the answer clearly and if it doesn't, this fall, so we are told, isn't a bad time to remind them.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

A Native-Born Aurorian Gave Fame To His Town Secret Of Keeping Young

Another Thanksgiving Day has passed into history. The last of the series of national holidays is over for another year. The prospect now is unrelaxed work until the festival of Christmas. Let there be no repining. Work is a good thing. It keeps the mind and the body young.

The Thanksgiving Day we have just celebrated originated in America in the year 1621. But it was English people who originated it. They were the 100 or so men, women and children who arrived from England in December 1620, to found what is now known as New England. They became known as the Pilgrim Fathers.

In the fall of the year 1621 they found that their hard work had proved a good thing. They had had a fine harvest. Remembering this, and looking around at the new homes they had founded, they decided on a day of thanksgiving in gratitude to a kindly Providence. Thus began the historic occasion we know as Thanksgiving Day.

Canadian Thanksgiving

It was not, however, until the year 1863 that the idea of an annual Thanksgiving Day was promulgated by President Lincoln. The example he set was followed by succeeding American presidents, and the last Thursday in the month of November has been observed as Thanksgiving Day in the United States ever since Lincoln's historic proclamation.

As early as September 28, 1763, there was a Thanksgiving Day in Canada. The occasion was, however, not in gratitude for good harvests but for an entirely different reason. The occasion was to celebrate a state of peace between Great Britain and France, and the festivities took place at Halifax, N.S.

The first of the Canadian annual Thanksgiving Days as we understand them, dates from November 1879. On October 9, 1879, the federal government at Ottawa proclaimed the observance of a national holiday, and this was to take place on November 6, 1879. Thanksgiving Day has been observed since that date in Canada, with increasing popularity year by year.

New Rotarians

Two new members have been added to the restricted roll of the Aurora Rotary club. They are John Willis, Jr., and Don Bassett, who made quite a name for himself with radio productions during the war.

John Willis, Jr., son of the redoubtable "Jock", needs no introduction to readers of this column, or in any newspaper column circulating in York county. He is the son of his father, almost a mental replica of his father. So where is the need to introduce him?

John Willis, Jr., has a young "Jock" of his own, and certainly a most obvious Willis. He is John Willis, III, and druggist in embryo.

A Fine Come-Back

When we would have liked an hour or two on the lawn bowling greens the weather was bad. The other evening we went down to the clubhouse, where we found a few members present.

Among them was Mr. Bert Sisman who, we are very glad to

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

Little men and big men, in their time and for various reasons, have tried to stifle a free press. Such freedom of expression as the press enjoys has been won in the face of constant opposition on the part of those who did not want the people to know too much.

Strings can be pulled in any number of ways if newspaper-owners are of the type which yields to pressure from outside, and where the main purpose of owning newspapers is to make profits regardless of the public interest.

In our view the public interest should be the first consideration of newspaper ownership. There is any amount of evidence to show that newspapers which give first consideration to the public interest achieve both circulation and profits. The basic reason for such successes is the confidence that readers have in newspapers that place the public interest first.

Experience has shown that people buy newspapers not necessarily because they agree with everything that editorial and other writers have to say. What the majority of people is concerned with is the knowledge that writers are saying what they honestly believe to be true. Sincerity of opinion is the real test that the majority of readers apply to writers.

Such sincerity of opinion often conflicts with the ambitions and the intentions of little men and big men who try to find ways and means of stifling a free press. If they cannot gain their ends in one way they try others. Their purpose is to trim the newspapers to suit their ends.

A free press is the bulwark of liberty and good government, in local as well as in national affairs. Once the freedom of the press is tampered with, news is restricted and many evils go unchecked.

THE MAYOR WAS SILENT

When we attended the council meeting on October 1 we felt quite sure that Mayor Bell would take the opportunity of explaining to the citizens of Aurora why he had given instructions that we were no longer to have access to the file of council business, as has been our practice since July 1950.

A unanimous vote of council gave the press the right to look over council business and that resolution has never been rescinded. But for Mayor Bell's high-handed action we would have continued to consult the files of council business to report what the taxpayers ought to know.

We shall not let this matter rest until council decides whether the resolution it passed is to be rescinded, or the procedure we have followed since July, 1950, is to be restored in the taxpayers' interests. Pending such a decision by council we do not admit that Mayor Bell had any legal right single-handedly to override a resolution of council which is on the records.

Our contention is that all council business is public business and that there should be no suppression of any part of it. To this we add that all town business, council, high school and public school, hydro and other activities in which the money of the taxpayers is involved, should be made fully known. The "iron curtain" should be taken down from all of them.

We are insistent on getting that "iron curtain" raised, and we are fully aware that the majority of the citizens of Aurora are behind our efforts. We are concerned for the interests of all the citizens of Aurora, not just a few of them. That is why we want the "iron curtain" raised.

SPREADING IT OUT

In conditions where supplies are scarce the victims are often compelled to use a method of spreading this and that "out", in order to provide a sense of plenty whereas in reality there is only poverty. This method of "spreading it out" is sometimes used in weekly newspapers where the headlines are more impressive than the paragraphs below them.

It is amusing to see how the occasional editor has resorted to the "spreading it out" method for other reasons besides those of news shortages. One reason he obviously had in mind was to let certain people down as lightly as possible. Those are the people whom he considers important and must be gently patted along.

For example: In the reporting of a council meeting the "spreading it out" type of editor puts in a little bit here, and a little bit there, and above the little brie-a-brac pieces are headlines of a size which Jimmy Durante would describe as "stupendous".

It is amusing also to see what this type of brie-a-brac editor leaves out in his council reports. If he is a friend of the mayor, or the reeve, as the case may be, you may be sure he will keep out of his little pieces anything that tends to impair their importance.

Thus the "spreading-it out" method is not always so simple as it appears on the surface. There is a certain subtlety in the method. And it is the purpose behind the method which the watchful reader has to look for.

The watchful reader has to keep an eye on news adulteration whenever the "spreading it out" method is at work in the weekly newspaper. There may be more to it than merely making a little news go a long way. The brie-a-brac editor may be artfully taking his reader for a propaganda ride.

COUNCIL SIDELIGHTS

Board Of Trade's Request Council Alter Hydro Wall Dropped Like Hot Potatoes

The council table did not look the same at all with Deputy-reeve Murray and Councillors Davies and Pringle absent from the meeting on Monday night, October 1. Their absence was not explained, which may have arisen through illness or pressing engagements. However that might be, we missed their presence, for different reasons.

The deputy-reeve has greatly advanced as a member of council during the past year and nine months. We remember a time when he had little to say. He used to sit at the table with a sort of Mona Lisa smile irradiating his face; a smile which one did not quite know how to interpret. It could have meant approval, or that other sort of smile which mean "you're telling me."

Mr. Murray still smiles. He is essentially a pleasant-mannered man. But for a long time past he has done something more than smile over council business. He has taken a very active hand in it. There have been few council meetings this year when he did not make his presence felt. We have grown to admire his work on council, and it will be a matter for real regret if the rumor should prove true, that he intends to retire at the end of the present year.

Councillor Davies

Once wrote that the town council would not look the same if Councillor Davies were not present at its proceedings. We have not altered our opinion. Mr. Davies is a man of ability and one who understands council procedure from A to Z.

In debate he sometimes uses a blunderbuss and at other times a rapier. He uses either weapon with skill. It is our opinion, however, that he often uses both weapons in support of wrong causes. The election-time by-law which he recently sponsored belongs in the latter category.

However, Mr. Davies has always given his support to one vital aspect of local government: he has always stood for the authority of council as the supreme town authority. If his example in that respect had been followed by others the continuing muddle in council matters would not have happened.

Councillor Pringle

The third member of council whom we missed at the October 1 meeting was Councillor Pringle. We missed him for the reason that one misses a smiling picture which has hung on a wall for a long time and has quite unexpectedly been taken down. We look for it and see it is not there.

Mr. Pringle wears a pleasant smile as consistently as does Mr. Truman. But Mr. Pringle is not Mr. Truman. The probabilities are that he would not like to be Mr. Truman. We suspect he would rather be Harold Pringle. While we would never blame him for such a preference, since every man should prefer to be himself rather than somebody else, that idea of a picture on the wall haunts us.

Mr. Pringle has not taken a full part in council proceedings over too long a time. Such action as he has taken in council has often been wrong, in our opinion. Especially so in regard to Aurora's Holy Wall, when he voted with the contradictory majority who supported one law for the hydro and another for the citizens.

Stalemate

The October 1 meeting was a stalemate. We recall only one item of business that was not handed over to committees or deferred. This concerned the expropriation of land west of Yonge street, in regard to which Town Solicitor Lee was instructed to proceed. What the outcome of that instruction will be is anybody's guess.

Even the old fire truck was a subject of deferment, although Councillor Corbett reported there was an offer to buy it for, we believe, the sum of about $750. Council did not decide on the sale, but referred it back to the fire committee to do, it seemed, what it thought best.

A letter from the board of trade requesting that council enforce its building by-laws on the hydro commission was dropped like hot potatoes. Councillor Fielding immediately suggested that no discussion take place on the letter, stating that the hydro subject was closed.

It is understandable that Mrs. Fielding felt extremely sensitive on a request that the building by-laws be enforced on the hydro commission, since it was she who got a motion carried that the building by-laws be carried out and later, strangely enough, voted against her own original motion. This completely contradictory state of affairs will need some explaining to the electors.

Mayor's Ban

The letter from the Bell Telephone Company was lengthy and it was impossible to write it down as it was read to council. Its contents were of the greatest importance to telephone users in Aurora. In the ordinary way we would have gone to the town hall and copied it out so that our readers could study its contents.

Mayor Bell's action in banning our freedom to consult the file of council business means that we are unable to reproduce the Bell Telephone Company's letter. It means that taxpayers can no longer get the full information on council business to which they are entitled.

We thought we were doing a useful thing in July, 1950, when we asked the mayor by letter to allow the press the freedom of consulting council files, for the benefit of the taxpayers. Here is what we said in our letter of July, 1950:

We quote: "It often happens that resolutions, motions, reports, etc., cannot fully and accurately be taken down for press reports as these are read and transacted at the council table. Consequently, the work of council cannot be accurately reported as it deserves to be and ratepayers cannot obtain the full information which is their due."

"Such deficiencies could be overcome by permission of council for the press to take copies, if necessary, of such resolutions, reports, etc., at the town clerk's office; and to verify notes taken by the press of council business officially recorded. Such verified reporting would be in the interests of the work of council as much as it would be in the ratepayers' interests."

Mutual Benefits

We thought we were doing a useful mutual service for the council and the ratepayers in making the requests we did in our letter, and council thought so, too. After Councillor Davies had read the letter to council, Councillor Corbett moved, and Councillor Davies seconded, that the requests be granted, and this motion was unanimously adopted.

All has gone well since July, 1950, until Mayor Bell stepped in with his instructions, i.e., that what council had granted was to cease.

No voice of protest was heard at council on October 1. Which does not mean that the matter is ended. For one reason we don't think that either Councillor Corbett or Councillor Davies will quietly accept such high-handed elimination of a resolution for which they were responsible, and approved unanimously.

We understand that steps are being taken for a delegation to meet council on this important question of the right of the press to have access to council business in the interests of adequate publicity. We hope such a delegation will await what happens at the next full meeting of council, before they take steps in the matter.

The next regular meeting of council is on Monday night, October 15.

IN MEMORIAM
Hillis—In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away, Oct. 16, 1950.
God knew that she was suffering.
So He closed her weary eyelids.
And whispered: peace be thine.
Away in the beautiful hills of God.
By the valley of rest so fair,
Sometime, someday we know not when,
We will meet our mother there.
Sadly missed and always remembered by daughter, Jean, son, Earl, son-in-law, Charles.

Hillis—In loving memory of a dear mother, who passed away Oct. 16, 1950.
I watched you suffer, I heard you

B. AND P. PRESIDENT ATTENDS MEETING OF TORONTO CLUB

Norine Ayers, president of the Newmarket Business and Professional Women's club, attended a meeting of the Toronto B. and P. club as the dinner guest of Marguerite Houston, office manager of Combustion Engineering Co., an executive member of the Toronto club. The meeting was held at the United Empire Loyalist house, Prince Arthur Ave., Toronto, on Thursday, Oct. 4. There were 106 present.

Gladys Douglas, secretary-treasurer, Palmer Thermostat Co., presided at the meeting. Mary H. Macaulay, daughter of Hon. Leopold Macaulay and a lawyer in her own right, was in charge of the interesting program. A panel discussion, "Women in the Professions," headed by Helen Tierney, was the highlight of the evening.

On the panel were Dr. Jessie Gray, surgeon-in-chief, Women's College hospital, Toronto, Elsie Jean McGill, aeronautical engineer and technical advisor to the International Aviation association, and Gwen Conmee, chartered accountant. Miss McGill designed the Maple Leaf Trainer No. 2 for Canadian Car and Foundry during the war and is a daughter of the late Judge Helen McGill, founder of the Vancouver B. and P. club. Miss McGill is married but retains her maiden name in business.

Miss Conmee felt that the work of a chartered accountant was an excellent field for women. This profession involved a great deal of detail which she felt women handled better than men. It was the feeling of the discussion that there were many openings for women in both the field of medicine and engineering, but that in these as in any of the professions, for a woman to obtain recognition, she had to be outstanding, more clever than her male counterpart.

It was also felt by the panel that when marriage was combined with a profession, it was a very unusual woman who could make a success of both.

Beatrice Lyons, Newmarket, thanked the speakers.

TRINITY AUXILIARY TO HELP BEAVERS

Members of the Junior Evening auxiliary, Trinity United church, Newmarket, will help the Busy Beavers club, it was decided at a meeting of the former group on Tuesday, Oct. 2. Plans were also made to pack a bale for Korea at the next meeting.

Held at the home of Mrs. Donald Burch, the well-attended meeting was chaired by the president, Mrs. Bruce McLymont. Mrs. Robert Peters led the devotional period.

The auxiliary will make dolls' clothes as their share in helping the Busy Beavers. The ladies will meet at the home of Mrs. Harold Tite on Thursday to begin this work. The Busy Beavers club is a group of local boys who, under the direction of Mr. Tite, have been reclaiming broken, discarded toys. These toys are sent to the Aurora hospital or help to fill the Lions' Christmas cheer baskets. Among the toys the boys have repaired are many dolls and clothing for these will be made by the members of the Junior Evening auxiliary.

At the close of the business meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Alberta Atkins.

HANDCRAFT GROUPS PREPARE FOR BAZAAR

Meetings of the Newmarket Handcraft group were held recently at the homes of Mrs. E. A. Mitchell and Mrs. Arthur Davies to discuss arrangements for the third annual community bazaar. Mrs. George McNelly is general convener.

The bazaar will be held in the town hall on Wednesday, Nov. 14, with the displays being set up the preceding evening, Nov. 13. Over a dozen individuals and groups have notified Mrs. McNelly their intentions of entering their crafts and hobbies in the bazaar.

Notices have been sent to exhibitors in the two previous bazaars with details regarding the 1951 community bazaar. New exhibitors interested in entering any articles are requested to contact Mrs. McNelly for full particulars.

ST. PAUL'S W.A. REPORTS ON SALE

The W.A. Evening auxiliary, St. Paul's Anglican church, Newmarket, held its monthly Dorcas meeting at the home of Mrs. W. L. Moorthy on Monday, Oct. 1. Sewing for the bazaar was distributed.

A report on the successful rummage sale held in September by the auxiliary was given. The group expressed its appreciation of the help received from those who gave clothing to the sale. Money raised in this project is used in missionary work.

Plans were discussed for the group's booth at the Community bazaar with many of the members bringing in articles for that sale. The bazaar will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 14 in the town hall.

Light refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. William Peters. A social half-hour was enjoyed by the members.

RAMSAY - STEWART

A pretty autumn wedding took place in Christ church, Deep Park, Toronto, on Sept. 19, when Doris Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Draper, Mount Albert, was united in marriage to Bruce Ramsay, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ramsay, Sharon. Rev. W. D. Smith of Sutton West, a friend of the groom, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original gown of bluish pink with matching jacket of chantilly lace and tricorn hat of ostrich tips and carried a cascade of tea roses and stephanotis. Mrs. Marshall Lyons of Scarborough, sister of the bride, was the only attendant. She wore a similar gown and hat in pale orchid and carried a cascade of white gladioli centred with rose buds and blue cornflowers.

Orville Ewart of Sutton West was groomsmen and ushers were Ross Draper of Mount Albert, brother of the bride and Bob Young of Toronto.

The reception was held at Maloney's Art Gallery where the bride's mother received in a grey wool crepe with wine accessories and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother assisted in a dark grey dress with navy accessories and corsage of pink roses.

For travelling the bride wore a rust wool casual with black velvet accessories and corsage of yellow roses. After a motor trip to Virginia U.S.A., they will reside in Toronto.

THE GOLDEN MONTH

We sing of Canada's deep core,
Where mines and forest hold in store
Real riches — not just a Midas' dream,
These, in our Northland, grow and gleam.

Our herds of cattle, flocks of sheep,
Our treasures from the mighty deep,
Each scenic highway, mountain grand,
Enrich the beauty of our land.

Each season's colors gleam and glow
With tints of precious gems we know,
Amethyst and turquoise blue,
Ruby and opal, round us strew;

A very feast of tint and hue
In flower and bird, and river too.
But in October, month of gold,
Nature, her riches does unfold;

Each leaf upon the walnut tree
In purest gold for you to see,
The cornstalks, slender golden rods,
In autumn's breezes, gravely nod.

The straw stacks catch a golden sheen
As sun sifts down through leafy screen,
The maples mint their red gold coins
As summer girds her showering loins.

We mount a zephyr and begone
Beyond the farthest horizon.
God touches with His tender hand,
The trees and fields on this fair land.

And bids the whole wide earth enfold
October, in a robe of gold.

The cornstalks, slender golden rods,
In autumn's breezes, gravely nod.

The straw stacks catch a golden sheen
As sun sifts down through leafy screen,
The maples mint their red gold coins
As summer girds her showering loins.

We mount a zephyr and begone
Beyond the farthest horizon.
God touches with His tender hand,
The trees and fields on this fair land.

And bids the whole wide earth enfold
October, in a robe of gold.

THE GOLDEN MONTH

We sing of Canada's deep core,
Where mines and forest hold in store
Real riches — not just a Midas' dream,
These, in our Northland, grow and gleam.

Our herds of cattle, flocks of sheep,
Our treasures from the mighty deep,
Each scenic highway, mountain grand,
Enrich the beauty of our land.

Each season's colors gleam and glow
With tints of precious gems we know,
Amethyst and turquoise blue,
Ruby and opal, round us strew;

A very feast of tint and hue
In flower and bird, and river too.
But in October, month of gold,
Nature, her riches does unfold;

Each leaf upon the walnut tree
In purest gold for you to see,
The cornstalks, slender golden rods,
In autumn's breezes, gravely nod.

The straw stacks catch a golden sheen
As sun sifts down through leafy screen,
The maples mint their red gold coins

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE ION

It was Harvest Home. The congregation joined in humility and reverence in giving thanks to God for all His goodness and loving-kindness to them and to all mankind.

Groupings of feathery fern and ripe, golden grains adorned the windows. The brass vessels, polished to a glowing lustre, were filled with the fall flowers, splendid in their warm autumn hues. On the chancel steps were clusters of vegetables and fruits, another rich array of vibrant colors and further evidence of the bounteous season.

In such surroundings it was natural to remember the words of the Psalmist, "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord..." The harvest hymns beautifully phrased the awareness of the "countless gifts of love" we daily receive from God, the Father.

Those of us who garden can never fail in that awareness at all times. We delight in the soil and the magic of growth. We marvel in the germination of the seed, in the development of the plant from the tiny seedling to full maturity. Unconsciously we follow the dictates of the Book of Common Prayer which tells us that, "It is very meet, right and our bounden duty, that we should at all times, and in all places, give thanks unto Everlasting God."

Autumn then for the gardener is not just a time of fulfillment, but one of further thanksgiving to our Creator. Last week we harvested the muskmelons and grapes, the root vegetables and dug the potatoes. As in many Canadian homes, the root cellar and jam cupboards contain further evidence of the blessings of this land.

Together with the thankfulness for the harvest is the appreciation of the beauty of the season. In the flower borders, the purple and golden hues of the chrysanthemums and asters and the brilliant red of the salvia echo the colors of the countryside. Maples have turned a mellow, copper shade or vermillion. The sumach is blood-red and warm yellows and oranges blend against the deep green of the pines and spruces.

Yes, who can walk abroad in autumn without an almost breathless awareness of this intensity of color? Who can fail to join in the prayer, "Lord of harvest, grant that we, whole-some grain and pure may be?"

BECAUSE IT GIVES YOU PLEASURE . . .

... you should do your best to preserve duck hunting. And here are a few hints that will help. Don't shoot until the duck is within range, and be sure to pick up cripples. Where possible, use a good retriever and, above all, count wounded birds in your bag whether you recover them or not.

Wise hunting today conserves for tomorrow's holiday.

Keswick News

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ted Leonard on the arrival of their little daughter, "Melody."

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Atchison, Bob and Carolyn, Toronto, and Mrs. Gordon McEachern, Can-nington, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Morton.

Mrs. Serrick opened her home for the October meeting of the W.C.T.U. Mrs. Harry Draper took as her scripture reading the 20th chapter of Proverbs, containing the well-known warning so much needed today, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise."

Later in the evening Mrs. Draper also gave a sweet rendering of the "Glory Song."

Mrs. Serrick read from the September White Ribbon Tidings, a letter from Mrs. Lade, the national president, stressing many points of importance in the work.

Mrs. Kennedy's reading was a real incident in the life of Mrs. Barkley, a national worker for the W.C.T.U. in the United States. This letter showed the redemptive work of the White Ribbons among those whose lives have been debauched and shamed by strong drink.

Lunch was served and arrangements made for the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Orville King.

Mrs. Brooks, Miss Betty Brooks and Miss Mary McLennan of Toronto spent Saturday in the village. Miss McLennan remained for the weekend as guest of Miss B. Terry.

KETTLEBY

On Sunday, Sept. 30, the Harvest Home services were held in the Kettleby United church with the minister, Mr. J. Hummel, in charge at the morning service, and in the evening Rev. Gordon Hunter of Schomberg delivered the message, with Miss Ann Stephenson as guest soloist. The choir very ably assisted with music at both services and the church had been beautifully decorated by several ladies of the W.A. Anyone attending either service carried away many fine thoughts for the week and inspiration for higher and better living.

On Wednesday, Oct. 3, the Women's Association met in the church with the president, Mrs. L. V. Hancock, presiding. She was assisted in the worship service by Mrs. H. Burns, Mrs. C. Black and Mrs. E. Blatchford. Guests from Aurora, King, Snowball, Pottsgrove and Glenville and neighbors from the Anglican and Baptist churches were welcomed.

Mrs. Jerry Black, who recently moved to Toronto, returned for the day to favor us with one of her beautiful solos, as also did Miss Mary Wassink. Mrs. Halpenny, president of Centre Presbytery W.A., addressed the meeting. She told of visiting the Mormon temple in Salt Lake City and how the setting among the mountains recalled to her the 121st Psalm, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help."

She said of all the people today Canadians are the most privileged and with privilege also goes responsibility and it is the responsibility of Christian women to do their utmost to ban the forces of evil that are abroad in the world today. At the close of the meeting refreshments and a social time was enjoyed at the hall.

James Wright on Sunday.

AWHILE back, he figured out just what a new tractor would do for his farm. He didn't have enough cash in the bank to handle the deal. So he talked things over with his bank manager, fair and square.

He got his bank loan — and the tractor. From now on, he expects to work more acreage, increase his farm income. Soon the bank will be repaid.

He looks to his chartered bank for market information, too, and any other banking service he may need.

That's what he wants. That's what he gets. Sound business all round!

Markham Millionaires Bow Out

Markham Millionaires, after seven straight years of triumph which saw them reach the senior "A" finals, the intermediate "B" finals twice, and the intermediate "C" finals once, have finally called it a day and in the bigger arena at least, Markham will not be represented this winter. The players will be split to the four winds. The new East York entry will grab some of the boys. Others will strengthen Stouffville Clippers, the mercantile arena gets a few and some will retire.

The announcement will be read with regret by the many fans of the district who learned to respect the Millionaires for their great team spirit, perpetual try, and hockey finesse.

Down south, the boys will either have an intermediate "B" club, or an O.H.A. entry and of course there'll be minor hockey. Nick Bangay has deserted the Clippers and moved to Owen Sound Mercurys and since the two clubs won't be in the same series this year, the loss to the Clippers won't be quite as irritating as it might have been. George Stark, ex-Aurora and Newmarket Vets performer, who was expected to retire, has rejoined the Clippers and that goes for Bobby Hopper, ex-Marlboroughs.

Don Campbell and Jack Rumney, with Aurora Indians last winter, Moe Petch, ex-Aurora-Unionville junior defenceman, and Bud Watson, pivot star of Uxbridge juniors, are four new recruits who are calculated to help Stouffville fans forget "Sir Nicholas" and Gordy Lewis, now in Scotland. Jack Leonard, who was with Alton last winter, Bert Baker, all-round performer for Markham, Ron Bell, speedy Markham forward, and the old reliable Fred and George Scott are others who are whipping-up pre-season hockey enthusiasm in Stouffville where there is no scarcity of playing material.

Let's see now: Polly Minton, George Sayliss, Ed Couch, Herb Rose, Bill Bradbury, Ross Hochberger, Jack Warriner, Hal Gibson, Jim Machin and Johnny Rhodes are ready to go from the '51 squad and coach Bob Bangay will dippy-doodle in person too. Normie Stundén, ace netminder of the area, has turned down offers from Kingston Locos, Ayr

Pittsburgh Hornets. To oldtimers, he's the son of Frank "Puncher" Sullivan of Varsity and Varsity Grads fame, and nephew of the redoubtable Dr. Joey Sullivan of way-back-when. With Bob Hassard, Stouffville baseballer, in the Hornets' line-up, they'll have a bit of a following in the parts.

Loring Doolittle, fresh from the baseball wars, has his eyes set on an O.H.A. referee's ticket this winter. "Denny" hit 333 over the regular season at Varsity park. He'll be taking some championship as a result. Doug McPhee, who played with Aurora juniors two winters ago and did well as called upon, has lost a leg in a motor accident and played with a band around his neck and secured six goals against Georgetown last night. Tom Dickson, still in Aurora, awaiting further hockey opportunities at Aurora, where he'll have the by Christmas, says there's no chance of his at Aurora until early November. Trouble in the parts.

No appointment as yet to Aurora Recreation Division and Aurora Arena Manager. The Glass, chairman of the recreation committee, says there are some up-draft prospects for the part and an announcement will likely be made next week. There are bids for the part from as far as E.C. The arena committee will wait the decision of the recreation committee in the hope the arena committee can do both jobs. It's a fair share at that with two sets of members to please as well as the general public. Pass the word.

BADMINTON MEETING

A second meeting to organize the Newmarket Badminton Club will be held at the high school on Monday at 7 p.m. Everybody welcome. Bring your racquet.

TOWN LEAGUE HOCKEY

The Newmarket Mercantile Hockey League will hold its organization meeting at the arena Tuesday, Oct. 16, at 7 p.m. The four teams of last year, Davis Leather, Office Specialty, Hoffman and Merchants, are asked to have representatives present. Everyone interested in seeing a stronger town loop functioning this winter are asked to attend.

MOUNTIES PRACTICE HOCKEY

Mount Albert Hockey Club held its first practice Friday at the Stouffville arena. The juniors went down to a workout and plan to organize a team within the next week or two. They hope to enter the team in either the Newmarket Town League or a rural circuit that will operate at Stouffville.

TOWN LEAGUE BANQUET

Newmarket Town League softball team will hold their banquet at the Legion hall Friday evening. Players and all six teams in the district are invited to attend. Tickets for the banquet are $1.00. Advance tickets are $0.50. Tickets are on sale at all 150 p.m.
